Reckless Sons rock CMJ thrice

Reckless Sons will be gracing three different stages at this year's CMJ Music Marathon, which makes perfect sense for a band that has appeal across a variety of NY boroughs. CMJ will be the band's fourth appearance since their line-up reincarnation, as Matt Butler (vocals) and Anthony Stella (guitar) have been joined by Cass Dillon (guitar/vocals), Josh Pillbox (bass), and Hari Gangleberger (drums). In addition to the three new members and Trey of CMJ shows, Reckless Sons have added a few new songs to their repertoire, including "One Step Further," "Anything But the Truth," and "She Forgives Me in the Morning." Drawing influences from guitar-driven, Brit-rock idols and melding them with contemporary, alternative pop vibes, the quintet is in the process of recording a full-length album. In the meantime, check out Reckless Sons next week at Bowery Electric, Crash Mansion, and the McKibbin Lofts on October 19, 22, and 24, respectively. — Meijin Bruttomesso
